State Assembly Passes Constitution Measure

By VINCENT P. CAROCCI

HARRISBURG (AP) — A reluctant House and Senate overcame their personal reservations yesterday and gave final approval to Gov. Shafer's first priority bill—a call for a limited constitutional convention.

The action in both chambers automatically places the convention referendum on the May 16 primary ballot for consideration by the electorate.

The House initiated the proceedings by returning the bill to the Senate for concurrence in amendments, 166-43; 80 Republicans and 86 Democrats for, 22 Republicans and 11 Democrats against.

Two Republicans and two Democrats were recorded as not voting.

The Senate Republican leadership convinced all 27 of its caucus to support the governor's convention referendum. Five of the 22 minority Democrats were the only ones to oppose, with two not voting.

The Shafer bill would have the convention write new articles on the judiciary, taxation and finance, local government and legislative reapportionment sections of the Constitution of 1874.

The convention would be prohibited from altering the language of that constitution's uniformity taxation clause, the clause which the courts have held bars a graduated income tax in this state.

It was readily apparent after the one-hour debate in the House and 40-minute oratory in the Senate that neither the Republicans nor the Democrats were satisfied with the bill.

Two Senate Republicans, Sens. Elmer D. Hawbaker, Franklin, and Clarence D. Bell, Delaware, candidly informed their colleagues that they intended to work against the referendum question this spring.

The bill was rolled to the final vote three months after it was first introduced and one week after House Democrats won major concessions from the administration in return for their support.

State Senate Told Penal Code Must Be Revamped

HARRISBURG (AP) — A panel of legal authorities told a special House-Senate hearing yesterday that there was a dramatic need for the enactment of a new penal code in Pennsylvania.

Prof. Louis B. Schwartz of the University of Pennsylvania Law School told the House and Senate Judiciary committees that the state's present criminal laws was filled with "idiotic" additions.

"To outsiders who look at our criminal law, we must look like barbarians," Schwartz received plenty of support from the other witnesses who appeared at the first in a planned series of public hearings on the proposed penal code now before the Senate committee.

Philadelphia Common Pleas Judge Joseph Sloan said the code represented the "first serious, orderly effort" to modernize Pennsylvania's criminal laws.

Dauphin County Common Pleas Judge Carl B. Shelly told the lawmakers: "I say this to you candidly. Almost anything is better than what we have now. Existing law is in dire need of recodification."

Dist. Atty. Jacques Fox called the proposed code "a very thorough and comprehensive change . . . a step in the right direction."

All the witnesses had served on the advisory committee which assisted the Joint State Government Commission over the past three years in drafting the voluminous legislation.

Sen. Clarence D. Bell, R-

Delaware, chairman of the Senate panel, said the committees contemplated a series of public hearings, each dealing with a specific section of the proposed code such as abortion, wiretapping, and adultery.

Hoffa Enters Prison; To Be Treated Like All Federal Inmates

By WILLIAM DIEBLER

LEWISBURG, Pa., (AP) — James R. Hoffa, each arm gripped by a U.S. marshal, entered the federal penitentiary here yesterday to start serving his eight-year sentence for jury tampering.

Smiling and nodding, the 54-year-old president of the huge Teamsters union walked 40 steps from a car and through the prison gates. It took a penitentiary official only seconds to examine Hoffa's commitment papers and admit him.

The head of the nation's largest union surrendered at 9 a.m. in Washington, was fingerprinted and then taken on a four-hour trip through a snowstorm to the penitentiary at Lewisburg in central Pennsylvania, some 60 miles from the state capital of Harrisburg.

"If the government can do this to a Hoffa they can do it to any American citizen," Hoffa, defiant but shaken, said before surrendering in Washington.

"It's a very unhappy day of my life," he added, and then managed a weak smile and a jest at newsmen — "you're getting paid, I hope, union wages."

Hoffa, still claiming his 1964 conviction was a "conspiracy" in a 10-year federal effort to put him behind bars, will have to serve at least two years and eight months before he is eligible for parole.

His dark, blue business suit was replaced at prison for a two-piece blue denim outfit and low cut black oxfords.

Warden Jacob J. Parker said Hoffa would undergo the same immediate routine as anyone else entering the penitentiary.

One thing he won't be doing, the warden said, will be running the business affairs of the 118 million member Teamsters union.

"We have a simple rule here," Parker explained. "No body is permitted to perpetrate or conduct a business while in federal confinement."

Originally, federal officials had planned to fly Hoffa to Williamsport, Pa., 25 miles from Lewisburg and drive from there to the penitentiary. But the Williamsport airport was closed when more than 14 inches of snow fell over the area during the night.

Hoffa will spend five to seven days in an admission unit, where he undergoes a thorough physical examination and is interviewed by the chaplain, education specialists and a case worker.

During this indoctrination period he will be given a temporary work assignment, probably some kind of service type work.

"This is an orientation period for both the inmates and the clinic staff," Parker said.

"We are interested in observ-

Lack Fair Site

Youngsville Fair for 1967 is still without a site.

The fair's board met last night and has postponed until the April 4 meeting any decision on where the fair will be located.

According to present plans, wherever the fair will be held, it will be Aug. 16-19. The proposed Youngsville bypass of Route 6 will take part of the present fairgrounds.

Jack Dunningan of Frewsburg, N.Y., was appointed chairman of the entertainment committee and will select his own committee members.

Other committee chairmen named were Mary A. Teconchuk of Youngsville, publicity; Mrs. W. J. Crippen of Pittsfield, exhibits; Gordon Maynard and James Pearson, both of Youngsville, finance; Sara Mae Sanford of Youngsville, fair book; and Bernie Wingard of Warren and Bob Scott of Bear Lake, building. Second Strike Closes Auto Plant; Leaders Summoned

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Auto workers whose walkout last month led to shutdowns and layoffs at 86 General Motors plants left their jobs again yesterday at a strategic body parts plant.

Less than a third of the 900-man second shift was believed to have reported to the plant that was idled when first-shift workers refused to cross early morning picket lines.

Officials and shop committee members of United Auto Workers Local 549 were ordered to Detroit today to tell national union leaders why they didn't obey UAW orders to end the walkout.

The national union threatened earlier to take over the local here.

Limited production was restored inside the plant, which makes fenders, floors and other parts for 90 per cent of GM autos, with about 250 men at work after pickets were removed.

Both Robert Hall, president of Local 549, and company officials said Tuesday's walkout was unauthorized. Hall had planned three meetings with members Wednesday, to discuss progress of talks since the February walkout but these were canceled after the call to Detroit.

In Detroit, the United Auto Workers called an emergency meeting of its National General Motors Council for 2 p.m. yesterday to discuss the new dispute, which was apparently triggered by rumors that five men suspended in the last walk-out were to be fired.

Company and union officials in Detroit and Mansfield were saying little about the central issue of "farming out" work to other plants. The issue is expected to be a major matter in the next round of GM contract talks.

Pickets left their posts yesterday morning after keeping some night workers and the morning shift from entering the plant.

Johnson May Drop Plans For Income Tax Increase

By EDMOND LEBRETON

WASHINGTON (AP) — A hint that President Johnson might drop his proposal for a raise in income taxes if business doesn't perk up brought quick concurrence from Congress yesterday that the boost is certainly not a sure thing.

That was the way the situation was described by Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the House Ways and Means Committee. All tax legislation must originate with this group and Mills said it has not even set a date for hearings.

Mills observed that Johnson proposed a temporary 6 per cent surcharge, effective July 1, but that the President has never sent up the specific legislation.

"It would be premature for the committee to put this proposal on its agenda," Mills said, adding that even if an administration bill were before it, the tax panel would want to study the economy at length before deciding it.

And finally, he said, "I will insist that every effort be made by the President and the Congress to show some concrete results in expenditure reduction before we take up any tax increase proposal."

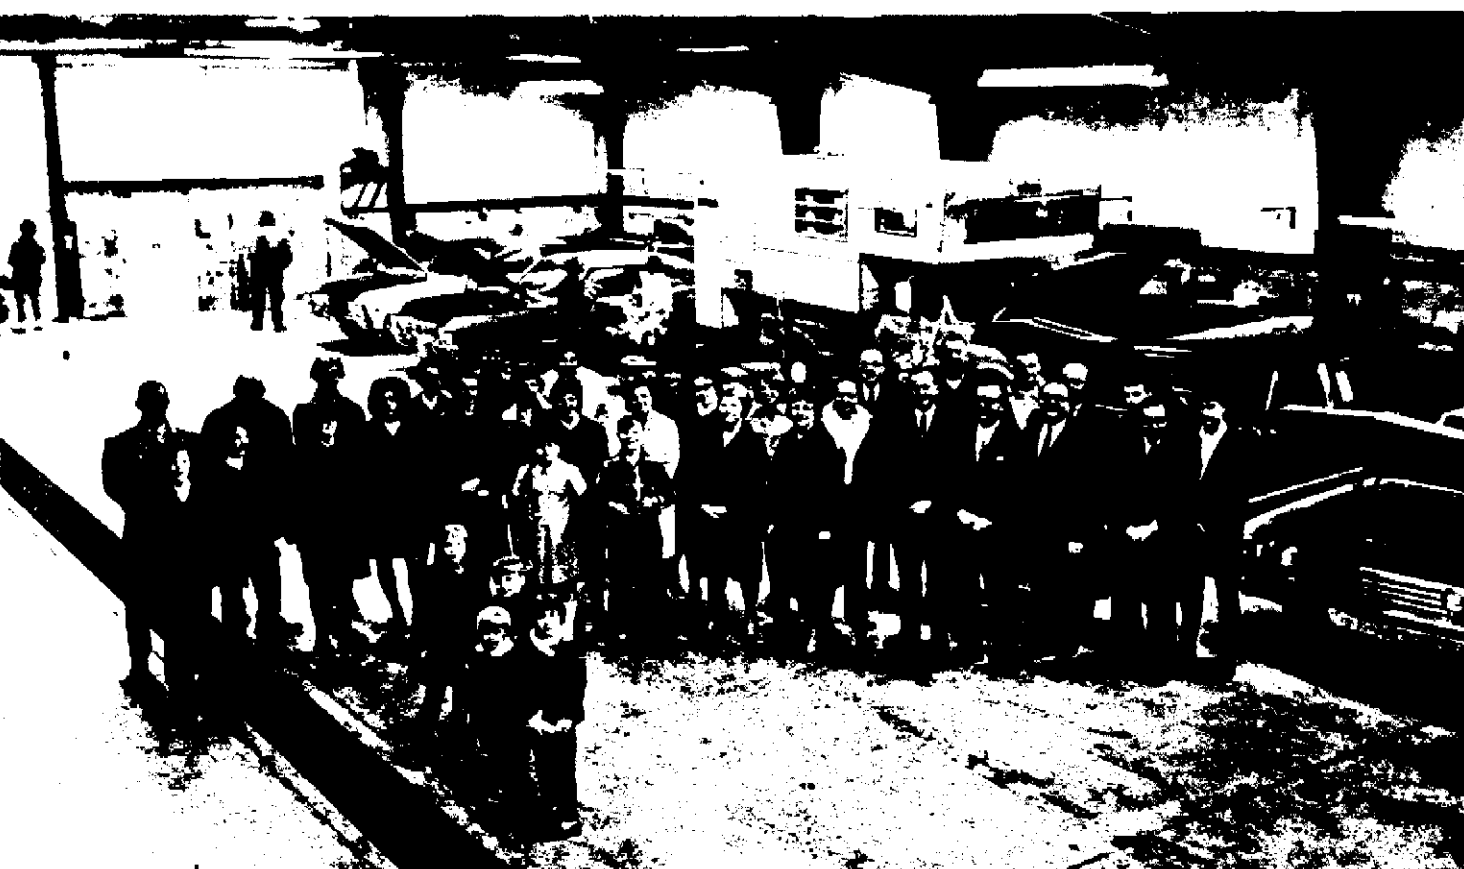

There appeared no prospect that hearings, if held at all, would begin before June, practically ruling out enactment by July 1, although the tax could be made retroactive.

Policy advisers within the administration, while sticking by the forecast that a tax rise apparently will be needed to hold down deficits and ward off inflation, said the proposal might be withdrawn or modified if the expected economic pickup is not in sight by April or May.

A possible modification could be a later effective date — Sept. 1, or even next Jan. 1, instead of July 1.

THE JONES GATHER AT BROTHER BOB'S

When Bob Jones of Sheffield held a grand opening of his new Jones Chevrolet Inc. building last month, it was a gala occasion for many members of his family. This group pictured aren't just interested friends or patrons — they're all Jones' kin. Thirty-six turned out for the event as wives brought their husbands, husbands brought their wives and they all brought the kids. The late L. B. Jones, father of 12 girls and three boys, started in the automobile business in Sheffield in 1918. His sons have followed in his footsteps. (Photo by Mahan)

COMPUTERS HAVE NO FEELINGS

Matchmakers' Business Booms

By JUDY KLEMESRUD
(C) N.Y. Times News Service
NEW YORK — In Helen Brooks's midtown office is a baby-blue sign with black letters that says: "Marriages are made in heaven. I am only His agent."

Mrs. Brooks, an attractive red-haired widow, heads one of a dozen concerns listed under the heading "marriage brokers" in the Manhattan yellow pages. She has been a paid cupid for 27 years.

RETIREES

A. T. (Bud) Hanson recently received a leather-bound citation from Ralph E. Grimm, president, in appreciation of 39 years of service with Pennsylvania Gas Company before retiring. He began his career with the company in 1927 and was the chief dispatcher of Warren dispatching center since 1945. The Hanson family is living at 111 Frank st.

For an initial fee of $100, Mrs. Brooks and her son, Lewis, will regularly scour their file — which contains the names of 3,000 eligible men and women — in search of the perfect mate for any client judged presentable and sincere. If the couple are so compatible that marriage results, they are assessed a $150 fee.

The fees flowed freely recently, Mrs. Brooks said, when she married off a set of identical twin brothers to a set of fraternal twin sisters.

Whether they are called marriage brokers or matrimonial advisors or just plain matchmakers, the men and women who mold marriages in Manhattan tend to have several things in common:

— An ample supply of wedding and birth announcements in their desks, ready to be whipped out as testimony of their successes.

— A penchant for saying, "This is not a lonely hearts' club."

— Telephones that ring at least twice before they answer them.

— "We don't want to appear too eager," one broker said.

— An abhorrence of date-arranging by computers — that is, unless they, too, use the machines in their mate-selection process.

"Those computers, they make me afraid for the young ladies," said Irving Field, a broker who says he has arranged 3,000 marriages the old-fashioned way. "They have no feelings, no love. What's to keep from matching women with alcoholics, ex-convicts or sex maniacs?"

"But then they are no competition for me," he added.

Field, who prefers to paint his partly bald head black instead of wearing a toupee, makes matches in an office decorated to resemble the Garden of Eden ("It puts my clients at ease").

"This is Macy's Department Store," Field said, gesturing at two large filing cabinets that he said contained 5,000 names, "Age 18 to 80." They are divided into several economic groupings, including laborers, white collar, better middle class, wealthy and society.

Field said he met his wife 28 years ago when she walked into his office looking for a husband. ("I took a loss, because I didn't make her pay her bill.") They have two married daughters, both of whom were introduced to their husbands by their father.

When someone decides to use a marriage broker, the procedure is generally this: He phones for an appointment and is invited to come to the broker's office for a free interview, at which he is asked his age, schooling, hobbies, background, income, physical defects and description of his ideal mate.

If a broker feels he can help the person ("I turn down sloppy, rough, tough people," Field said), he asks him to pay a registration fee, generally about $100, and sign a contract that can be run anywhere from six months to a year to the rest of the client's life, depending on the broker's policy.

During this period, the client is provided with a varying number of dates, and asked to report back the next morning on how each progressed.

"The saddest part is when one partner doesn't like the other, and the other is crazy about him," said Sam Pauline, who runs Pauline's Matrimonial Service.

Pauline, whose father was a marriage broker in Russia, said 60 per cent of his clients were Jews who still believed in the old European tradition that arranged marriages were the most successful.

Male clients, he said, usually ask for a woman who is very attractive, while women are more interested in a mate who can give them security.

Compatibility is determined by a computer and a team of psychologists at the Scientific Marriage Institute, Inc., which occupies a 20-room townhouse.

"We call this the rational approach to marriage," said Dr. Eric Riss, executive director, who admits he is happily married to a woman he met by chance while studying for his doctorate in psychology at New York University.

Senate Passes Measure To Regulate Lobbyists

By JOHN HERBERS
(C) N.Y. Times News Service
WASHINGTON — A bill that would make the first significant reforms in congressional procedures in 20 years was passed by the Senate yesterday. The vote, which came after almost seven weeks of tedious debate, was 75 to 9.

One of the main provisions would tighten the regulation of lobbying by requiring those whose "substantial purpose" is to influence legislation to register with the comptroller general.

The practical effect of this, according to Sen. A. S. (Mike) Monroney, author of the bill, would be to publicly identify "about 90 per cent of the people who lobby for pay, instead of 10 per cent."

The bill, among other things, would do the following:

— Strip Congress of its historic role in the appointment and confirmation of postmasters and the recommendation of rural carriers, and leave these matters entirely to the postmaster general on the basis of merit.

— Give members of Congress and congressional committees additional staff members at higher pay.

— Create a new Senate standing committee that would handle

Jones Family Hard To Keep Up With

Keeping up with the Jones's in Warren County isn't easy. Proof of this fact was evident when Bob Jones of Sheffield last month celebrated the grand opening of his new facility of Jones Chevrolet Inc. on the Sheffield-Kane rd., Route 6.

When the Jones men and women gathered with their respective husbands, wives and children at Bob's new garage and showroom, they numbered 36 — and not all of them could be on hand.

Action Group Organizes

Some 34 Sheffield area residents met last night at Sheffield School Cafeteria to discuss anti-poverty programs.

The meeting was called by Warren-Forrest Counties Economic Opportunity Council. The council is calling a series of similar meetings in the two-county area.

"Community Action" programs were discussed — programs of self-help organized at the community level and assisted by the federal government. Richard Brown, WFCEOC director, said last night that "the overwhelming majority" of those present expressed a desire to take part in various anti-poverty programs.

Ralph Santo, principal of Sheffield School, volunteered to act as temporary chairman for the Sheffield target area. It was agreed that another community action meeting will be held sometime in the near future.

Sheffield Township supervisor Richard E. Curtin volunteered to help plan the next meeting, at which permanent officers will be elected, along with a member of the WFCEOC board of directors. Each of 12 "target areas" will elect a representative on the board, according to WFCEOC plans.

Organizations represented at the meeting included Progressive Women's Club, Junior Women's Club, Acadia Club, Lions Club, Sports Boosters, VFW, Rotary, the U.S. Postal Department, Civic Association, Sheffield Volunteer Fire Department, the American Legion and Sheffield PTA.

It all started when the late L. B. Jones started in the automobile business at 305 Main st. in 1918. He sold Hupmobiles. On October 20, 1920, L. B. got his Chevrolet agency and Jones has continuously been selling Chevrolets ever since. The Hupmobile franchise was relinquished in 1926.

Bob was literally brought up in the automobile business and recalls that the dealership was the support of a family with 15 children.

After the elder Jones died in 1949, the business was incorporated as Jones Chevrolet Inc., in 1950. The original officers included Robert Jones, president; Earl Carr, vice president and Lawrence E. Milley, secretary-treasurer. With the death of the latter, Mrs. Robert Jones was elected secretary-treasurer in January of 1967.

The house on Oak st. in Sheffield was home for three boys and 12 girls. Members of the Jones family (not counting their children) are Leah Milley, Sheffield; Leonard, the Lincoln-Mercury dealer in Wellsville, N.Y.; Beatrice Host, Nashville, Ky.; Elaine Rader, Sheffield; Bob, Sheffield; Bruce, Warren, general manager, Kusse Pontiac-Cadillac; Ethelyn McGuire, Sheffield; DeLeo Rieff, Warren; Janice Bunk, Warren; Vida Stoudt, Cleveland, Ohio; Marilyn Rose, Kane; Beverly Haden, Warren; Bonnell Wolfe, Warren; Anita Jones, Washington, D.C.; and Nancy Jones, Kansas City.

It is apparent that the sons of L. B. Jones inherited the ambition to become a part of the automobile business.

North Vietnamese Use Border Areas as Truck Sanctuary

By NEIL SHEEHAN
(C) N.Y. Times News Service
WASHINGTON — The North Vietnamese are using a zone about 25 miles deep along the Chinese border as a daytime sanctuary for truck convoys, military sources said yesterday.

American aircraft are prohibited from bombing within the zone without special permission from Washington. The restriction is intended to avoid the diplomatic and political consequences of intrusions into Chinese airspace.

The zone runs along the entire length of North Vietnam's border with China. The depth of the zone varies, but it is usually about 25 to 30 miles deep, the sources said.

Except for reconnaissance aircraft on assigned surveillance missions, American pilots are normally cautioned against flying within the zone unless there is a necessity to do so.

The sources said the North Vietnamese are also using towns during the day as sanctuaries for truck convoys, apparently because they know American pilots are restricted in attacks on population centers.

Aerial reconnaissance photographs, the sources said, show hundreds of trucks loaded with supplies lined up along the roads within the restricted zone along the border with China during the day.

At night the trucks move south in small convoys and the roads within the restricted zone are emptied, the sources said.

Repeated reconnaissance photography of a number of towns show a similar pattern. During the day the centers of the towns are filled with trucks. At night the trucks move out in small convoys and the towns are emptied.

The North Vietnamese were also reported using population centers to shelter small but numerous supply dumps.

"You can hardly blame them for doing this," one source said. "It makes sense from their point of view. They know we're restricted in these areas so they take advantage of it."

American pilots have, with advance permission, occasionally attacked specific, fixed targets within the restricted zone. The targets included railroad bridges and marshalling yards along the two rail lines which run northwest and northeast from Hanoi to China.

But pilots do not now have the freedom to bomb truck convoys within the zone.

Except for the restricted areas around Hanoi and Haiphong, within which pilots may bomb only with advance permission, Air Force and Navy commanders are relatively free to order strikes against specific military targets within the smaller population centers.

These include bridges, major supply depots, barracks, rail yards and truck parks. Pilots also have considerable discretion in deciding whether to strike conventional anti-aircraft guns or missile batteries within towns which are endangering their own or accompanying aircraft.

However, the pilots are restricted from freely bombing groups of trucks or small supply dumps when they sight them within towns.

Tape Recorder Used To Cheat Phone Firm

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — "Clung...clung...clung...clung..." Those were the sounds of dropping coins that came from a small tape recorder that was played yesterday at the arraignment of 41-year-old Nino Barbieri of Fort Washington, Pa.

The telephone company agents said they wanted to show the magistrate how a long-distance telephone caller faked the clanging sound of dropping coins to operators. Other sections of the tape gave dime tinkles and nickels in-between.

They told magistrate Tomlin Campbell that an operator's only evidence that her "Deposit 60 cents, please," has been answered is what her ear tells her, the "clung" of a quarter, crystalline tinkle of a dime, and the in-between "bong" of a nickel.

The company started an investigation recently after its records showed more than $62 short in long-distance tolls. Barbieri, described as a theatrical booking agent, was observed making some calls from one of the booths, the agents said. They said he had the tape recorder demonstrated yesterday and some dime and quarter-sized washers in his possession. They said the washers apparently had been used to call the operators.

Barbieri was held for the grand jury on charges of cheating by false pretenses, fraudulent use of a coin device and illegal manufacture of slugs. He was released in $500 bail.

Measles No Laughing Matter

It's time to stop thinking of measles as a slightly humorous childhood disease.

Many people don't realize two important things about measles:

First, it's a crippler and killer. Measles strikes millions of children, but the ones left with deafness or mental defects or encephalitis—or even the ones who die—seem to be forgotten by the public. Measles isn't at all a funny disease; it's one whose tragedy isn't fully realized.

Second, measles could be eliminated as a major health threat. Some officials believe it could be eradicated in this country within a year. There's no doubt that it SHOULD be. Several types of anti-measles vaccine are available. They are easily administered by your physician and have been proven safe and effective.

Measles—susceptible children can be immunized by their family's physician. The best time is when they are approximately one year old. Older susceptible children—those who have neither had measles nor been given measles vaccine—should be immunized as soon as possible, particularly if they are of school age.

In some communities, and in the states of Rhode Island and Delaware, measles has been practically eliminated by concerted, areawide immunization campaigns.

The local medical society in cooperation with the community's civic, education, and health organizations could promote such a program in this county.

The most important step is to ensure that your own children are protected from measles. If they have not been immunized, have it done now.

What Price 'Past Performance'?

"Why stop at reporting how the performances of mutual funds vary from year to year? Tell us how the performances of individual stocks vary from year to year and you'll really have a column. I know. I've got them all: mutual funds, blue chips and dogs..."

"Do you own General Motors, Miss Porter? I do. Do you own duPont? I do. I bought both of them in 1965 because I was told they were safe stocks and I couldn't afford to lose the money my husband left me. What a laugh!"

These are excerpts from just two of a stack of letters you've written me since my recent column pointing out the dramatic differences in the performances of mutual funds in 1965 and 1966 and warning that past performance of any mutual fund is not a guide to its future action. And of course, you are right.

A glance at the trends of only the 30 stocks in the Dow-Jones industrial stock average underlines how spectacularly right you are. To illustrate, between year-end 1965 and year-end 1966, Chrysler slumped more than 42 percent while Eastman Kodak gained almost 9 percent, duPont fell 40 percent while Procter & Gamble rose more than 5 percent; General Motors lost more than 35 percent while Aluminum Co. went up 2½ percent.

Even these sharp contrasts within a stock average which declined 19 percent overall do not tell the full tale of performance. You'll find this in the table below which shows the rank of each of the 30 stocks of year-end 1965 and 1966.

STOCK	RANK 1965	RANK 1966
United Aircraft	1	4
Eastman Kodak	2	1
Westinghouse Electric	3	19
Anaconda	4	5
American Can	5	14
General Electric	6	21
Aluminum Co.	7	3
International Harvester	8	20
Owens-Illinois	9	13
duPont	10	29
Bethlehem Steel	11	22
Woolworth	12	27
General Motors	13	28
Standard Oil of Calif.	14	17
Union Carbide	15	24
International Nickel	16	6
Goodyear	17	10
Johns Manville	18	11
United States Steel	19	23
General Foods	20	12
Sears, Roebuck	21	26
American Tobacco	22	7
Allied Chemical	23	25
Swift & Co.	24	16
International Paper	25	15
Texaco	26	9
Standard Oil of N.J.	27	18
American Telephone	28	8
Chrysler Corp.	29	30
Procter & Gamble	30	2

P. S. The stock in LAST place at the start of the year was in FIRST place both in 1962 and 1963. The stock in FIRST place at the start of 1967 was TWENTY-SECOND in 1963. What price "past performance" indeed!

The Paperback Book Business

Everything about the paperback book business is adult except some of the publishers. Many still think they're selling sex. Five hundred new titles are published each month, and they embrace the arts and sciences, textbooks, histories, dictionaries, the best of non-fiction and those bosomy novels.

Last year, Americans paid $232,500,000 for 310,000,000 paperbacks. It averages out to three books per adult. This is a significant cultural breakthrough, because Americans, until recently, seldom bought a book for the pleasure of reading, and thought of a home library as an affectation of the rich. Only 7 per cent of adult Americans ever read a book.

I became interested in the paperback business in 1949, when William C. Lengel, of Fawcett Publications, offered me a job as founding editor of Gold Medal Books, which was designed to publish "originals." The pay wasn't bad if you had a milk route, but Lengel was a top-flight editor and could teach too.

So I took it. At that time, Fawcett was printing New American Library's output of paperbacks, and Gold Medal was inaugurated to tap the market without alienating NAL's reprint business. The next couple of years were fascinating. Dog-eared manuscripts came from everywhere. Some even came out of prison walls. Others were the cast-off products of authors with talent who found that, with this one, they had spawned a dud.

Often we took it. Sometimes we didn't. Our smallest printing for an edition was 250,000. The author was paid a graduated scale of royalties, beginning, if I recall, with a cent a copy. Gold Medal often earned only 1 cent and three mills per copy, but we took that from all the authors.

The jobber, I think, got a nickel a copy. The newsstand owner got five cents too. On a twenty-five cent book, Gold Medal had to buy it, pay for an office and a staff, set it in type, print it, bind it, package it and deliver it—for about 12 cents a copy.

These prices have gone up. The average paperback now sells for 68 cents. In those days, the big name wasn't Hemingway; it was Mickey Spillane. This man wrote a sort of adventure comic strip without the pictures. In the bookstore across the country, his gems may not have sold more than four or five thousand copies for Duell Sloan and Pearce.

But when NAL put a boudoir belle on the cover, with a snarling crew cut behind her, the same book in pocketbook form zoomed to 2,000,000 sales. The word passed through the paperback field that the half-dressed dame on the cover sold the books. They did. The non-reading Americans wanted diversion on trains and planes, buses and subways.

So they bought the paperback covers. The people were seduced. They seldom got the "hot" book they thought they had bought. But the paperback executives thought that any manuscript—no matter how poorly written—could be sold with the "right" cover and the "right" teaser copy.

The art director of Gold Medal, Al Allard, seldom consulted me about the cover. He got an okay from an executive whose book experience consisted of publishing an assortment of magazines and comic books. I was as surprised as my readers when I saw the first half dozen titles come up with covers that may not have broadened my mind but did a great deal for my nostrils.

That was long ago. After a couple of years, I quit while still reasonably sane. My interest in paperbacks has not flagged. I'm still their greatest roofer. It's the cheapest introduction to a pleasant world of knowledge and dreams and entertainment.

To cite one instance, Bantam bought a novel "Boys and Girls Together" before it was published in hardcover. Bantam thought it would sell 80,000 or more. It died around 15,000. The paperback publishers had paid six figures for it, and they weren't going to lose it.

So they pushed hard. The cover shows a dark nude girl in the arms of a nude man. "Bold, shocking!" it says. On the back cover, the copy says: "The National Bestseller at $6.95 now only 95 cents."

Okay, fellows. Let's sell a book consisting of 300 covers. We can call it No Nudes Is Good Nudes...

Peace Looks Dimmer

WASHINGTON -- It appears from what has been happening recently that the chances for a Vietnam peace settlement are getting dimmer all the time. While the United States and Hanoi both insist they're ready to sit down for unconditional talks, more conditions are being raised every day.

I wouldn't be surprised in the next few months if the public should be reading the following news dispatches:

"WASHINGTON -- Secretary of State Dean Rusk confirmed today that the United States was willing to discuss unconditional peace talks with North Vietnam at any time. But the secretary added Hanoi would have to make some gesture to show it was serious in seeking peace."

"When asked what kind of gesture would be required, Rusk replied, 'We're willing to accept any gesture. For example, if Ho Chi Minh would surrender his army to Martha Raye on the Bob Hope Chrysler TV Theater, we might be willing to sit down and talk.'"

"HANOI -- The North Vietnamese News Agency announced today that Hanoi was willing to meet with American officials to discuss a cease-fire in Vietnam. The only condition Hanoi laid down for the parley was that while the talks were going on Lady Bird Johnson would be required to personally replace every tree the Americans defoliated in the demilitarized zone."

"WASHINGTON -- A White House spokesman said that its decision to sink all ships in the Haiphong Harbor last night was the latest attempt on the part of President Johnson to get peace talks under way. The spokesman reiterated President Johnson's pledge to meet with the aggressors anywhere, any time, providing the meetings were held at the L.B.J. ranch where, as an act of good faith, the North Vietnamese would have to eat Texas chili and drink six-shooter coffee."

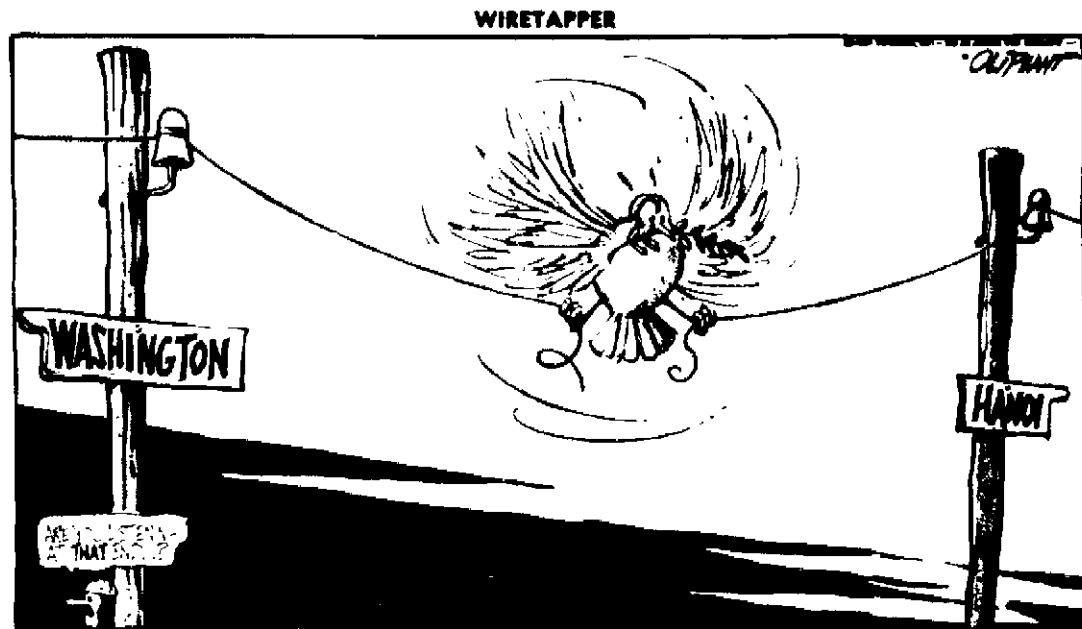

"HANOI -- Premier Phan Van Dong of North Vietnam told a Yemen newspaperman that he felt that peace talks could start at any time. He said his reason for optimism was that there was only one item standing in the way of talks, and that was Hanoi's demand that the United States scuttle the Seventh Fleet in the Gulf of Tonkin. He felt that once this condition was met, there would be no problem in reaching a settlement on the major issues of the day."

"SAIGON -- Premier Ky of South Vietnam denied today that his government was standing in the way of a cessation of hostilities in Vietnam. He told reporters, 'We are willing to meet the National Liberation Front halfway. If they agree to stand trial as war criminals and face a firing squad, I am ready to sit down and deal with them.'"

"HANOI -- President Ho Chi Minh held out an olive branch today to the United States. He said that he could see no reason why some solution of the war could not be worked out which could save face for both countries."

"Ho's suggestion was that if the Americans agreed to pull all their forces out of South Vietnam, he would name a high school after Lyndon Baines Johnson in Hanoi."

"WASHINGTON -- President Johnson said today the criticism of yesterday's invasion of North Vietnam by Nervous Nellies in Congress was hurting his efforts to find a peaceful solution to the Vietnam Problem."

RFK Made Head of the Family

WASHINGTON -- Kennedy intimates say old Joe Kennedy, ailing father of the incredible clan, has formally named his oldest surviving son, Robert, as head of the family and political heir to the late President Kennedy.

This means the Kennedy fortune and organization will be devoted to building up Sen. Robert Kennedy, D-N. Y., for the White House. His younger brother, Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., who seems to have more ballot-box appeal, simply must wait for his turn. Teddy easily outdistanced Bobby in the 1964 Massachusetts primary, which selected delegates to the Democratic convention. Later, Teddy ran ahead of President Johnson in Massachusetts, winning re-election by an overwhelming three-to-one margin. Bobby trailed President Johnson in New York.

Though Bobby is the senior brother, Teddy is the senior senator and is more popular inside the Senate. Bobby is more the loner, brusque and busy, caring little for the club spirit.

But in the all-for-one-and-one-for-all Kennedy family, ruled by strict Irish Catholic traditions, there can be only one head and heir. Bobby has inherited the mantle, and Teddy will be expected to support him as Bobby supported their late brother, John F. Kennedy.

Even on minor matters, it's Bobby who calls the signals. The two brothers had a small disagreement, for example, over the construction of the John F. Kennedy Library at Harvard University.

"Now, Teddy," admonished brother Bob, "remember what father said, that I am head of the family."

Bobby also hasn't forgotten what the late President, in jest, inscribed upon a gift cigarette case: "To Robert F. Kennedy. After I am through, how about you?"

FBI boss J. Edgar Hoover was asked by Rep. Neal Smith, D-Iowa, if he favored gun control legislation, at a closed meeting of a House appropriations subcommittee.

"I think it would help very much," replied Hoover.

"Please elaborate a little," suggested Smith.

Soldier Writes From Vietnam

Chu Lai, Vietnam February 67
To: The Editor of Warren Times-Mirror and Observer
From: James R. Brecht P.F.C., 2158129 USMC

Dear Sir,
I lived in Warren for at least 13 years on and off so I consider Warren as my home town. I am now 20 years old and serving with the 1st Marine Division, Task Force X-Ray, Sub-unit No. 2, and being here almost 13 months I found out that some people at home really don't know exactly why we are here in Vietnam. They also don't know anything about Vietnam or its people. So I decided to write to you and tell you something about this whole thing, and if you wish you can print it.
I call the Article

VIETNAM: "It's people, land, and why the United States is there."

Vietnam is located in the southeastern corner of Asia. Vietnam is bordered by the country of Laos and Cambodia. It is bordered on the East by the South China Sea. Vietnam's shape is long and narrow. The size of the country itself is about the size of the state of Washington or Oregon.

The land of Vietnam consist of about two-thirds central highland. Of course there is a chain of mountains that runs the length of the country itself. The country is marred by bits of dense jungle and open forest. These of course are scattered throughout the country. The coastal plains are narrow and run from the most northern part of Vietnam to Saigon. This coastal plain is very level, and has many beaches along this plain. There is a Delta in the southern part of Vietnam, this takes up about 35 per cent of the land mass. More than 50 per cent of Vietnam's population lives there. The Delta yields more than half of the rice in Vietnam. The Delta also has about 30,000 miles of navigable rivers and canals.

The climate of Vietnam is tropical with hot-dry-hot-wet monsoon seasons.

The people of Vietnam number about 20 million, with more than 70 per cent being ethnic Vietnamese. About 1 million are of Chinese nationality, one-half million Cambodian, 750,000 Montagnards. About 80 per cent of the people farm for a living.

They worship ancestors, and hold family as keystone of society. They place high value on good manners and tradition.

The Vietnamese are proud, valiant, and have stood up very bravely under Communist harassment for about 10 years.

The free world goals in Vietnam is the freedom and independence for about 20 million people of South Vietnam. Protect all Southeast Asia by destroying Communist aggression in S. Vietnam. Also three United States Presidents pledged assistance of S. Vietnam. Of all these the most important of all these is what President Johnson said, "We will stand in Vietnam."

Warren Times-Mirror and Observer
Warren, Pennsylvania

Dear Sir:
Several days ago, I was in Warren. This was the second time I was in your city, and I was just as impressed this time as I was on my first visit. In July 1966, I was with the Pennsylvania Outdoor Writer group that had a workshop session in Warren. All of us were pleased with the fine treatment we received.
Mr. Don Neal told our group that Warren had great potential.

Fleet, B-52 units, 7th Air Force, and 8,000 advisors and Combat Support Elements.

The Vietnam forces consist of Army, Navy, Marine Brigade, Air Force, Popular Forces, National Police, Civilian Defense Groups, and Armed Combat Youth. The strength of all these forces are about 700,000.

Our Allied Forces here consist of Australian, Korean, New Zealand Units, Republic of China, Philippines, Thailand. As we have found out in recent years the best way, matter of fact the only way, to win this war is to succeed by winning the people, depriving the Viet Cong of safe havens, rest and supplies.

The enemy consist of North Vietnam and its southern arm Viet Cong. At least 5,000 enemy soldiers infiltrated South Vietnam monthly. This continued the first few months of 1966. However the beginning of 1966 over 10,000 VC turned themselves in to the South Vietnamese government under the Chieu Hoi Program.

Well sir, guess that's about all I know about Vietnam and the present information. Of course you can change any part, if you decide to print this.

Sincerely yours,
P.F.C. James R. Brecht

Warren a Friendly Town

He pointed out the wonderful boating and fishing in the Allegheny River, the facilities for camping and hiking, and the natural splendor that surrounds Warren. I certainly agree with him.

I believe that Warren's greatest asset is her hospitality. There is a sincere friendliness everywhere you go. This is difficult to find in our modern times.

I hope Warren will have the Outdoor Writers' back soon. Sincerely yours,
Don Lewis

Mental Health Chant

Pennsylvania News Service
HARRISBURG -- In many respects it sounds like a fractured, worn out record, one that has been playing continuously for a dozen or so years.

And when you come right down to it, this is exactly what has happened.

For to these many years, as veterans of the Capitol Hill scene well recall, the one chant that can be counted upon with almost clocklike regularity in legislative sessions revolves around the theme: Pennsylvania's mental health program is a disgrace; more funds must be appropriated.

The chant has been raised again this year.

For example, Pennsylvania Mental Health, Inc., recently called on Governor Shafer to increase Pennsylvania's mental health budget by some $26 million--"to alleviate critical personnel shortages in mental hospitals."

And the subject was broached on the floor of the House of Representatives the other day, with Representative K. Leroy Irvig, Democratic whip declaring:

"We are acting as second-rate caretakers--treating these people like lower animals. I hope we begin to move legislation to change the attitude of this Commonwealth."

Actually, these two incidents could just as well be almost exact replays of 12 years ago!

At that time Pennsylvania's first Democratic governor in 16 years was in his first year of office, one George Michael Leader. Mr. Leader during the campaign year 1954 made Pennsylvania's mental health program (or lack of it) one of his prime targets during his gubernatorial bid.

He asked for what was then viewed as an "astronomical sum" for Pennsylvania's mental hospitals. It was a political issue from beginning to end but it served two main purposes: (1) It put Mr. Leader in the spotlight, and (2) the "astronomical sum" was forthcoming from the Legislature to "do the job that had to be done."

Mr. Leader was backed up in his demands, from the social movement standpoint, by the then Pennsylvania Citizens Association (PCA), later destined to become the present-day Pennsylvania Mental Health, Inc.

The basic theme in all the harping and criticism twelve years ago centered around the contention that given the money Pennsylvania's mental health ills would be cured--the personnel shortage eliminated, etc.

In the uproar that followed, the money was forthcoming--but the (theoretical) solution was never reached!

The program, per se, was improved, to be sure--but the human factor critical to any program failed to materialize in the "solution" so glowingly predicted.

The simple fact is that notwithstanding the huge appropriations for "Pennsylvania's lagging mental health program," the personnel shortage has continued to persist year in and year out; it never has been solved notwithstanding the glowing promises and projections made by the "experts"...

To update the whole thing: PMH in its request the other day for additional funds--you've guessed it--allowed as how the requested millions would make it possible to hire 1150 new persons in the treatment categories in state mental hospitals.

Few will deny that "adequate" funds should be made available for Pennsylvania's mental health programs--but exactly what constitutes "adequate" is the stickler. After all, there are other programs Pennsylvania's taxpayers are underwriting--which means that "adequacy" must of necessity be come relative, not one to the virtual exclusion of others as too often has been the case!

VIKES GET DRAFT CHOICES FOR QB

Tarkenton Will Scramble For Giants Next Season

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Giants, seeking to escape the National Football League cellar, acquired quarterback Fran Tarkenton from the Minnesota Vikings yesterday for three top draft choices and a player to be named later.

"This is the first and best step we could take to improve our fortunes," Giants' coach Alie Sherman said in making the announcement at a press conference.

"Tarkenton will be our No. 1 quarterback."

To get the six-year NFL veteran, a renowned scrambler, the Giants had to give up their first and second draft choices for 1967, their No. 1 pick for 1968 plus a player to be mutually agreed upon at a later date.

"No, I don't think we were milked in making the deal," Sherman said, answering a newsmen's provocative question. "I don't think you're ever milked when you get what you want — and we wanted a quarterback."

Tarkenton, present at the news conference in the Giants' headquarters, said, "I'm happy to play in New York."

The former University of Georgia star, with a year to go on his Viking contract, notified the Minnesota club last month that he flatly refused to play another season with it and wanted to be traded.

The 26-year old Tarkenton refused to discuss his dissatisfaction with the Vikings.

"It's a personal matter strictly — I'd rather not talk about it," he said.

Questioned on reported clashes with Norman Van Brocklin, the Minnesota coach and once a standout quarterback himself, Tarkenton said:

"I never said I wouldn't play for Van Brocklin. He is an excellent coach. He taught me a great deal. I am indebted to him."

Van Brocklin quit his job with the Vikings shortly after Tarkenton said he wanted to be traded.

The Giants agreed to take over Tarkenton's remaining one-year contract with the Vikings. His salary is in the $45,-000 area.

The giants agreed to take over Tarkenton's remaining one-year contract with the Vikings. His salary is in the $45,000 area.

The Giants disclosed that the CFL had given them, as a part of the agreement between the National and American Football Leagues, two options in the 1967 draft: 1. The first selection in either the 1967 or 1968 draft for the purpose of selecting a quarterback; 2. The right to trade that selection for a veteran quarterback.

So, the Giants exercised the second option, which leaves the Vikings with these alternatives in the complicated set-up:

1. Minnesota can have the very first choice in this year's draft, the Giants' pick in the second round, plus New York's first-round pick in 1968.

2. The Vikings can have the Giants' picks in the first and second round this year and save the top choice selection for next year. Commissioner Pete Rozelle explained that the Vikings are not limited to taking a quarterback—they can name any player they want.

When the Vikings elect to take the first-choice option, that stands as the Giants' first-round pick.

The Giants apparently decided they didn't have time to wait on the development of either of the year's top college quarterbacks — Steve Spurrier of Florida and Bob Griese of Purdue.

The club's current quarterback staff consists of Earl Morrall, who is recovering from a broken right wrist; Tom Kennedy, bought last season from the Brooklyn Dodgers of the Continental League, and rookie Bob Post, who spent the 1966 season with the taxi squad.

Gary Wood, the former Cornell star, was a Giant quarterback last season when the club won only one of 14 games, but was drafted subsequently by the new New Orleans entry. Like Tarkenton, Wood was a scrambling quarterback.

Tarkenton joined the Vikings in 1961 after an outstanding collegiate career at the University of Georgia. The six-foot 195-pounder became one of the league's best.

In six seasons, he completed 1,024 passes in 1,899 attempts for 14,579 yards and 113 touchdowns. He had a completion average of 53.9 per cent.

He carried the ball 293 times for 1,893 yards, a 6.5 yard average and 15 rushing touchdowns.

Tarkenton's departure will leave the Vikings with three quarterbacks.

Ron VanderKelen, former Wisconsin star who's been with Minnesota four seasons, and Bob Berry, a two-year man from Oregon, are expected to battle for the starting job. Each started one regular season game in 1966.

Minnesota also has John Hankinson, former University of Minnesota star, who spent his rookie season in 1966 with Des Moines, a Vikings farm club.

Vikings officials have not named a head coach to replace Van Brocklin, who resigned last month.

Knick Star Ill, Lost For Season

NEW YORK (AP) — Dave Stallworth, a 6-foot-7 forward for the New York Knickerbockers, was hospitalized yesterday following a heart attack and is out for the season — perhaps for his career.

"The manner in which he responds to treatment will determine his future in basketball," said Knick General Manager Eddie Donovan.

Stallworth, 25, a second-year professional from Wichita State, was listed in good condition at St. Clare's Hospital.

Dr. Kazuo Yanagisawa, the Knicks' team physician, said: "Stallworth suffered a heart attack. He had twinges a couple of weeks ago but didn't think anything of it. He got hit with the heart attack Saturday night."

"It takes a couple of days sometime for it to show up on a cardiogram, and that's why they didn't discover it out there."

"We can't make any statements now. We are continuing tests, and it will be four or five days before we can make a statement."

Donovan said Stallworth first complained of a pain in his chest in pregame workouts in Fresno, Calif., Saturday. He played four minutes in the first quarter, then signaled to be taken out.

Los Angeles Dodger manager Walter Alston seems pleased as he watches Bob "Beetle" Bailey work out at first base. Bailey, who played third base for the Pirates, is one of several veterans making the switch to the position, including Mickey Mantle of the Yankees and Eddie Mathews, now with the Houston Astros. New York Times columnist Arthur Daley comments on the latter's attitude on the change at left.

IT'S THAT TIME AGAIN

The duel between pitcher and batter is being re-enacted again on diamonds at Major League spring training camps in Florida, Arizona and California as the "higs" prepare for another season. Above, Dave McNally of the Baltimore Orioles lets fly with the leatheroid sphere as Bob Johnson, an Oriole infielder, stands poised to offer at the pitch during an intra-squad game. Johnson connected for a single, but was left stranded.

STEP INTO RICHARDSON'S SHOES?

Yanks' Prospect at Short Wears Bat Boy's Trousers

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer
FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Matt Galante is a candidate for Bobby Richardson's job and a new pair of pants. The bat boy wants his back.

Galante is one of several New York Yankees who are contending for the second base spot that Richardson has relinquished after 10 years. If he wins it, he'll do it in the bat boy's pants.

The reason he isn't wearing his own is because the Yankees don't have any small enough. Galante is only 5-foot-5½ inches.

"It's a funny feeling looking at the back of my pants and seeing 'Bat Boy' written on them," the 21-year-old Galante said while awaiting his turn in the batting cage.

"This shirt had to be tapered, too," he added before scurrying toward the cage and picking up the bat that had been dropped there by the previous batter. He went through the ritual of picking up each bat and weighing it in his hands, trying to find the smallest.

"I use a 31-ounce bat, but 33 ounces is the lightest I've found here," said the former All-America college second baseman.

"They've put an order in for bats for me, and I hope they come in soon. Until then I'll just have to adjust to the situation."

The Yankees, who used to have a 5-foot-6½ shortstop by the name of Phil Rizzuto, signed Galante last June after he hit .397 and made only one error in 205 chances for St. John's. They sent him to their Class AA farm team at Binghamton where he batted .342 for the best average in the organization.

The performance didn't win him a spot on the 40-man roster, but it did get him an invitation to the Yankee spring camp.

"I wouldn't even have thought of this in my greatest dreams," Galante said, his eyes lighting up like a little leaguer trying on his first uniform. "I'd like to stay with the Yankees, but I'll be glad to go to any club they send me to. I've only played half a season of pro ball, and being 21 I have a lot of time."

Galante, who has six more months to go before obtaining his degree in social sciences, doesn't feel his height, or lack of it, has any great disadvantages.

Colavito Finally Agrees To Terms with Cleveland

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Outfielder Rocky Colavito signed to terms for a 1967 contract yesterday and said he will report to the Cleveland Indians spring training camp here tomorrow.

Indians General Manager Cade Paul said he talked twice to the 35-year-old Colavito yesterday and once Monday at his home in Temple, Fla.

Colavito, who hit 30 home runs and finished with a .238 batting average last year, reportedly did not take the full 25 per cent pay cut that made him a holdout when training started.

He is the last member of the squad to agree to terms.

His salary last season reportedly was over $65,000, and he will make an estimated $55,000 or more this year.

Colavito and Paul were at odds over the cut in salary when contract negotiations started.

"It might hurt in some obvious ways," he said, "but it doesn't hurt psychologically, and that's probably the most important point. In one way it's an advantage to me. I have to be almost twice as good as anyone else. It's been an incentive. I don't think I'll ever get to the point where I can say I have it made."

The pranksters probably will never let up on him, even if he makes the team.

"The other day we were getting towels," said Galante. "The clubhouse man gave me the others the big bath towels. Me, he gave a face towel."

Drysdale Says Sore Arm May Shorten Career

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Los Angeles Dodger right-hander Don Drysdale said yesterday he's pitching on a year to year basis and reiterated he has been bothered this spring by a sore arm.

"This could be my last year," Drysdale said, "or I might play five more."

The pitcher said, too, that the time had come when he had to think of his family and security.

"At the end of 1967, I'll weigh a number of factors, including the year I've had, the year the team has had and whatever offers outside of baseball come my way," he explained. "Then I'll make my decision."

About his sore arm, the 30-year-old Drysdale asserted he was "sure it's nothing serious, but my arm never has stayed sore this long."

Training camp observers feel Drysdale, a 25-game and Cy Young Award winner in 1962, reported in the best shape in several years, notably so over his belated arrival last spring when he and Sandy Koufax staged their celebrated holdout.

Drysdale checked in this year at a trim 207 pounds which was about his same weight in 1962.

Then came the sore arm.

Drysdale made the remarks when asked about his future. He will make about $100,000 from the Dodgers this season.

National Champions Plagued by Trouble

By PAT THOMPSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—Minor troubles have pulled at Don Haskins' coat tails all winter. Now he's getting his Texas Western Miners ready to defend their NCAA basketball championship.

The Miners play Seattle Saturday night in the second game of the regional opening round at Ft. Collins, Colo.

Western opened the season as the No. 2 ranked team in the nation, with five of the eight top players who helped win the 1966 title.

They finished regular season play as the No. 10 team and without playmaker Bobby Joe Hill, who was an academic casualty at mid-term. Still, the Miners put together a 20-5 season.

Regular Nevil Shed lost his CCAA eligibility after the regular season because he had played as a freshman at North Carolina A&T.

Haskins said 6-foot-11 sophomore Phil Harris injured a knee in practice Monday and coaches were uncertain if he will be ready for Seattle.

Haskins raided the football racks for some depth at the end of the season. Fred Carr, a 6-5, 225-pound linebacker who made several all-star basketball teams as a prepster, now is with the team. He's played in two games and scored seven points.

Haskins says he doesn't want to look past the Seattle game. The Miners lost to Seattle 69-56 at Seattle, but smothered the Chiefs 80-54 in El Paso.

"They have a fine team," Haskins said. "Along with Pacific they're about second best on the Coast. It's a hard team for us to play against."

Haskins noted the problems he's had this season.

"I felt like we lost two or three that we shouldn't have," he said. "But we won some big games on the road. We won both of our big games in Chicago."

Kansas and Brigham Young were defeated in Chicago and Tulsa, Southern Methodist and Utah State also were beaten on the road.

The Miner losses were to New Mexico State, twice; New Mexico, Southern Illinois, and Seattle.

David Lattin tops the Miner scorers with a 14.4 points per game average, followed by Willie Worsley at 11.8 and Willie Cager at 9.3.

Marichal Sends Giant Contract Back, Unsigned

CASA GRANDE, Ariz. (AP) — Pitcher Juan Marichal and the San Francisco Giants were no closer yesterday in their battle over the ace right-hander's demands for a $40,000 raise this season.

Vice President Chub Feeney said he had received a letter from Marichal, the last of the Giants' holdouts.

The pitcher merely returned his unsigned contract for the second time. A week and a half ago, Marichal said he was returning to the $90,000 offer.

"For awhile," Feeney said, "I thought he put it in a bottle and tossed it out to sea."

The club executive said he would now try to contact Marichal by telephone in an effort to bring the pitcher to terms.

Suharto Asks Indonesian Congress of Sukarno's Role

By T. JEFF WILLIAMS
JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Opening Congress, strong man Gen. Suharto raised the question yesterday of whether President Sukarno himself instigated the Communist coup attempt of 1965.

Suharto urged Congress, however, not to strip Sukarno of his figurehead title of president, fearing that this will drench Indonesia in blood. Sukarno has turned all executive power over to Suharto.

Student and Moslem leaders heard Suharto, but they demanded that Congress go ahead and take away Sukarno's title and order him put on trial for his life for complicity in the Red bid to wrest all power from the arm. Oct. 1, 1965.

Suharto sketched the events of that bloody day, when the Communists set up headquarters at an air field and killed six anti-Communist generals.

Sukarno was at the air field on that day, and Suharto declared the president appointed a leftist officer, Maj. Gen. Pranoto, as caretaker of the army.

"Sukarno did not even try to condemn the (coup) movement or move from the airbase where he could later crush and punish the movement," Suharto declared.

"Sukarno had in fact taken actions which could be considered as approving the movement by appointing a caretaker of the army."

"From these facts and attitudes of Sukarno, it raised a question in us whether Sukarno had not earlier foreseen the coup or even that Sukarno instigated the coup himself."

Still Suharto asked that Sukarno keep his title, saying the president "will not be active in politics and government fields and will not hold leadership in government by actual physical means."

The 635-member Congress is expected to act by Saturday on a resolution adopted by Parliament calling for Sukarno's dismissal and trial. Congress shares legislative power with Parliament but is supreme in policy matters.

Suharto knows Sukarno still is popular with great masses of the people and fears some military units will go to the president's side in any showdown.

Climbers Sighted Alive

TALKEETNA, Alaska (AP) — Three climbers unheard from since they began a push for the top of 20,320-foot Mt. McKinley six days ago were sighted alive yesterday 2,000 feet below the summit.

An Alaska Air Command spokesman said the three were moving slowly downward "on their prescribed route."

Fears for their lives had been felt after other members of the seven-man party stamped out a distress signal in the snow Sunday at a lower level. A massive rescue operation was begun.

The three climbers, not immediately identified, had only a two days' food supply when they struck out for the top March 1 from a 17,000-foot camp in attempting the first winter conquest of North America's highest peak.

Clouds cloaked the summit soon afterward and the men encountered winds up to 100 miles an hour and temperatures 45-50 below zero and colder.

Not until yesterday was the top of the lofty mountain visible. Shortly before noon an Air Force C118 cargo plane piloted by Maj. Wilder S. Rice spotted three black objects against the snow while circling the summit.

The plane, diverted to the area for reconnaissance, dropped lower and members of the four-man crew were able to identify the specks as the missing climbers, and to see the direction they were heading.

A C130 from Elmendorf AFB, Anchorage, also in the area with a paramedic crew and supplies, prepared to drop a sled, survival gear and radio to the men. The C118 remained overhead to direct the drop.

Three Army helicopters flew from Ft. Greeley, south of Fairbanks, and had several hours of daylight left to make an evacuation from the mountain, weather permitting.

The three climbers would have to make their way down to an 8,250-foot base camp, which was reported still "flocked in" early in the afternoon.

Sheriff Continues Query into Cause Of Justice's Injury

JAMESTOWN — Chautauque County Sheriff Merle A. Campaign yesterday said his department will continue to investigate circumstances surrounding an apparent accident involving Town of Busti Peace Justice H. Willard Ayers.

Justice Ayers is a patient at Jamestown General Hospital undergoing treatment for injuries apparently sustained early Sunday morning in an accident on Strunk rd., near Jamestown.

Sheriff Campaign said the department has been unable to question Justice Ayers because of his condition.

Justice Ayers has refused to reveal how his injuries were sustained.

Rusk Cites Space Treaty as Opening

By PHIL KEIF
WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk told senators yesterday the outer space treaty "augurs well for the possibility of finding areas of common interest and agreement with the Soviet Union on other significant issues."

He assured the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, in urging ratification of the pact, that the United States could detect any military use of space.

"We have no doubt that we can monitor effectively a weapons system in outer space," Rusk said.

He said the treaty, like the antarctic treaty and the limited test ban treaty, is another example "of a congruence of common interests among the United States, the Soviet Union and many other countries."

It was negotiated in the United Nations, Rusk and U.N. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg testified for it at the committee's first public hearing on the measure designed to preserve space for peaceful purposes.

Rusk said it may not be inevitable, but it is possible and "our earnest desire" to "continue to explore with the Soviet Union and others additional ways of reducing the danger of conflict and promoting stability and security in the world."

Vietnam was not mentioned except at the end when committee Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., asked Rusk about reported discussion of the use of Latin-American troops in Vietnam.

The treaty would provide for inspection of facilities on the moon, but not vehicles in orbit.

Father Gambles Against Son, 8, Having Rabies

By JEAN HELLER
SPRINGFIELD, N.Y. (AP) —

Charles LeBrun spent the past five days in agony, trying to make a decision. Yesterday he made it, but it is wrong, his 8-year-old son is doomed.

Last Thursday night, little Michael LeBrun was attacked and bitten by a pack of dogs near his Long Island home. His father, gambling that none of the dogs was rabid, refused yesterday to allow Michael to be inoculated against rabies.

If LeBrun's gamble fails, the boy could be dead in less than two months. But LeBrun says he won't change his mind.

"I've been living in horror," he said. "It has been pure agony. I hope nobody has to make such a decision as I have."

"My doctor told me that sometimes people have died from rabies shots. I feel so sad that it has been 20 years since a rabid dog was found in Suffolk County."

"He said there was only one chance in a million that Michael has rabies. I'm going on faith that the dogs that attacked my boy were okay."

Michael was bitten on the arms and legs as he rode his bicycle near his home. There had been rumors of rabies in the area about a week ago.

Since Thursday, Michael has looked at some 30 stray dogs running up in hopes of finding and testing one or all of the dogs that attacked him. So far, he has found none.

The U.S. Public Health Service says the incubation period for the virus disease is from four to six weeks, depending on where bites occur and how severe they are.

LeBrun has about three weeks left to change his mind before his decision becomes irrevocable.

Asked if he knew the consequence of a wrong decision, LeBrun said:

"I know, I know. Dear God, yes, I know."

"If we knew for a fact that the dogs were rabid," he continued, "we'd go through with the shots gladly. But if you listen to what the doctors say, there's almost no chance that Michael has rabies."

"The shots are terribly painful. He'd suffer. He might even die from them. If I let Michael take the shots and then he died... for nothing... I'd..."

LeBrun didn't finish the sentence.

Jamestown Firm Plans Building For Offices

A multi-million dollar office building will be built in downtown Jamestown, N.Y., by Jamestown Mutual Insurance Co.

The four-story structure will go up on the east side of Pine st. between E. Third and E. Fourth streets.

Work on the project will extend over several years.

Demolition of vacant structures at the site of the new project will begin within a few weeks. The buildings to be demolished are cornered, housed Jamestown Manufacturers Association, Jamestown Medical Bureau, and an office of Unica Mutual Insurance Co.

Approval of building plans came yesterday when the insurance company's board of directors met. They reported that 1966 was the best year in the firm's history.

Two buildings at Pine and E. Third and Pine and E. Fourth streets will be demolished to make room for a parking ramp and an entrance mall. These buildings now house Corn Crib Confectionary, Annex Restaurant, Krause's Pharmacy, and professional offices.

A PANEL OF AMERICAN WOMEN will be heard tomorrow at a meeting of the Warren Ministerial Association in the Salvation Army Citadel. Their topic is "Human Relations" as experienced here in this community and elsewhere in the United States. But first, moderator Mrs. Donald H. Spencer and panelists Mrs. James Potter, Mrs. Henri LeMeur, Mrs. Bert Levinson, and Miss Daphne Chase will be special guests at the noon luncheon of the Ministerial Association. The topic to be discussed has been given by the panel on a number of previous occasions and the presentation in its scope is quite thought provoking. Viewpoints and experiences will be presented by Mrs. Potter, Protestant; Mrs. LeMeur, Catholic; Mrs. Levinson, Jewish; Miss Chase, Negro. Most likely this will be one of the more interesting of the ministerial meetings.

THE KENNETH R. FOWLERS of 14 Oak street are now back from the lovely Mexican Pacific coastal town of Acapulco where they spent a wonderfully relaxing and lazy two-week vacation. This is their third trip to the sunny vacation spot and they made the journey down and back via American Airlines jet-Betty Fowler said that now the jets land right in Acapulco. While there, they rented a car one day and drove one hundred and fifty miles up the Pacific Coast to Zihuatanejo, Mexico, and found themselves in a small, sleepy picturesque fishing town, now somewhat as Acapulco must have been before the tourists took it over, but probably to become just like Acapulco, Betty said, as one by one tourists "discover" the lovely place, and spread the word far and wide. In Acapulco the Fowlers stayed at the Monaco Motel where they had stayed before, and to their delight once again crossed paths with friends they made while there two years ago. The motel is near the finest beaches, close to the town's shopping center, and its cuisine is delicious. All in all, the Fowlers prefer their vacations in Mexico to those in Florida. They say the climate is great, with a constant temperature ranging from 80 to 85 degrees, and they come back here rested and refreshed, though it is somewhat of a shock to have to face the remainder of winter's whistling winds and weather.

WELL, THINGS ARE LOOKING UP, spring must be just around the corner after all. Sunday the Blueberry Hill Women's Golf Association committee chairman met in the hospitality room of the Northwest Savings and Loan Building. Their purpose was to plan for the opening day of activities at the club and dinner on Tuesday, May 2nd, exclusively for the girls. Every Tuesday thereafter, throughout the golfing season, is to be a Ladies Day. All women who, after the doldrums of winter, would like to play golf atop beautiful Blueberry Hill this coming spring, summer and early fall, are asked to call Mrs. Robert Wade at 723-2307.

MINIATURES: First Methodist Church is also having breakfast for Girl Scouts on Sunday, March 12, at 9 o'clock. Donuts and cocoa will be served. Tickets are 25 cents and there will be none sold at the door.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am 15 years old and a former shop-lifter, a part of my past of which I am not too proud. I want to share my experience with others and I hope you will allow me to do so through your wonderful column.

I started to pick up small items in the dime stores when I was about 11 years old. I'd help myself to lipstick, nail polish, earrings, articles I could stuff in a mitten or shove up my sleeve. I didn't think I was doing anything wrong. All I thought about was how clever I was to get away without being caught. Six months ago I took an expensive wool skirt right under the saleslady's nose. I simply went into a fitting room, took out the suit and blouse and I walked out of the store wearing the skirt under my dress. For two weeks I was half-sick with guilt. I didn't dare wear the skirt because my mother would ask where it came from. I couldn't sleep at night for fear she would find it. I couldn't concentrate on my school work. Finally I broke down and told my mother what I had done. She didn't holler or faint. She just said, "We are taking the skirt back to the store. You will tell the store manager what you did and you will then pay for the skirt out of your allowance."

I did it, Ann, and I have felt like a new person ever since. I wouldn't steal another thing for all the money in the world. I have learned my lesson and I thank God I learned it before I got picked up by detectives.

All the psychologists in the world can't figure out exactly why people steal. I don't know why I stole, but I can tell all kids everywhere that I am 100 percent happier now than I have ever been in my life.—EX-THIEF

DEAR EX: Your new-found happiness is the result of a clear conscience. Thank you for writing. I hope all teen-agers with taking ways will get the message.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You probably have heard enough about this subject but I must have my say. I didn't like your snide remark that just because a man likes to sleep in his wife's nightgown there must be something wrong with him. My husband told me a long time ago that his pajamas were uncomfortable and he wanted to borrow my nightgown. Just to see what he was talking about I slept in his pajamas one night. Have you ever slept on a piece of rope? Well, that's what the waist cord feels like. The buttons are like rocks and the seams in the trousers cut into me like a knife. You will not be allowed to print this letter because your advertising department would catch the devil from your men's stores and, after all, money is what keeps newspapers going.—THE TRUTH IS DEAD

DEAR FRIEND: Sorry about Truth—I didn't even know it was sick. Thanks for writing.

Confidential to Sand In My Eyes: You mean "Rocks in Your Head," don't you? Stay with your family and live up to your responsibilities. Your "problem" has nothing to do with geography. It stems from immaturity and a refusal to face life.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Hayseed Cootiettes Planning Joint Dinner For March 18th

Plans for a tureen dinner on Saturday, March 18, at 6 o'clock in the VFW Post rooms were made by the members of Hayseed Cootiette Club No. 302 at their recent meeting. Members of the Cooties will be special guests for the evening which will be arranged by Marie Ray-buck, chairman, and assisting her will be Mary Tellman.

Plans were also made at the meeting at which Chief Gray-back Ann Swanson presided, to hold a joint installation of newly-elected officers with the Military Order of Cooties in April. The ceremonies will be capped by a dinner served at 5:30 p.m. Alice Nasman reported on the monthly visitation to hospitalized veterans at Warren State Hospital. These visits are sponsored by the Military Order of Cooties.

For special entertainment arranged for the evening "The Twigs" a quartet comprised of Bob DeLong, Jim Crozier, Denny McDannel and Bill Fuelhart, sang selections; there was also music and singing by Jack Dunagan and Dan Kifer from WJTN, Jamestown. Refreshments of cup cakes and ice cream were served, and the veterans were also remembered with candy, cigarettes and tobacco.

Cooties attending the visitation were Axel Nasman, Lowell McCann, Larry McCann, Donald Raybuck and Leo Tremblay. Assisting with serving were Cootiettes Alice Nasman and Marie Tremblay. Representing the Dads of Foreign Service Veterans was Fred Anderson.

The next regular meeting of the Hayseed Cootiette Club will be on Wednesday, April 5.

Warren Grangers

At the recent candlelighting service held by Warren Grange Gladys Simones, lecturer, and Pauline Rapp, secretary took part. The theme for the February meeting was the "History of the Grange" and Washington's Birthday.

The grange song, "To Thee Beloved Grange" was sung by the entire group; the lecturer gave "A Good Granger is Faithful to God and Church; Marie Belton told of "The Grange" and Jeanne Godwin "Freedom of America".

A grange news matching game was played in which two groups put together two pages of the Pennsylvania Grange News. Another game, called Historical Review which concerned an unrecorded incident in George Washington's life, was played by everyone.

The lecturer gave "Truthful George" and Katherine Nuhler read "Pm Fine for the Shape I'm In" and everyone sang "My Country 'Tis of Thee".

Monday the Warren Grangers had another regular meeting at which the first and second degree initiation was held for a class of candidates. A tureen dinner preceded the ceremonies.

Girl Scout Breakfast

Next Sunday a Girl Scout Breakfast will be held at St. Joseph School for all Catholic Girl Scouts after the 10 a.m. Mass. A breakfast of ham and eggs will be served. All reservations must be in no later than tomorrow. Tickets are 50 cents. Call Mrs. George O'Dea at 723-8385.

Warren Central WCTU

The Rev. John Clark of Cable Hollow EUB Church will give devotions tomorrow at the local Institute of Warren Central WCTU. The morning session is to open at 11 o'clock in the parlors of First Methodist Church.

A luncheon is to be served at 12:30, and the afternoon session begins at 1 o'clock. Mrs. John McInturf, vice president is in charge of all arrangements for the day.

A New You by Emily Wilkens

In The New You Mailbag

Dear Emily Wilkens:

LOVELIER LIPS

I seem to have dry lips most of the time, particularly during the school year. Lipstick makes them look the worst—all cakey, cracked and dry. My lips certainly never look like those luscious ads for lipstick, even though I use the products advertised. Is there anything I can do?

Lucy P.

Dry chapped lips are nothing to laugh about. Perhaps when you're nervous you unconsciously wet your lips. This coupled with cold weather keeps them chapped. You should use a lip conditioner, like a camphor stick, frequently. Make sure you get enough fluids, particularly if you're in sports and perspire a lot. Also, check your salt intake and be sure you have enough foods high in potassium content (such as oranges, grapefruit, bananas) to replace any body fluids you've lost through perspiration.

Finally, check the lipstick you're using. It may be expensive, but you may also be allergic to the dye. Try switching to one of the non-allergic type available at any drug store.

GREGARIOUS GRANDMA

My problem may not be in your area, but I hope you can help me. My grandmother lives with us and whenever I have boys or girls over, grandma hovers around, offering us cookies and food and joining in the conversation. Everybody's too polite to ignore her, but sometimes she's downright embarrassing. How can you be a "New You" if you have to put up with an old grandmother?

Anne M.

Lonely grandparents are only human. Maybe it's your fault (and your family's, too) for not spending enough time with her to begin with. You might set aside a special treat—a once-a-week movie or TV show, or even a regular talk session about the "good old days"—so that grandma gets her social needs fulfilled, too. Above all, do try to be patient with her. Some people don't have grandmothers to bother them!

SHIP-SHAPE

I'd like to do something about the shape I'm in. I'm not overweight. I feel tired and listless all the time. I tried playing tennis the other day and my muscles really screamed in protest.

Miss Carolyn L.

If you're sure there's nothing physically wrong with you, regular exercise can do wonders toward perking you up. The key word is "regular." An hour or two of tennis once a week won't keep you in top form. Add a 15-minute exercise plan to your daily schedule. Look into Yoga—it's easy and painless. Walk in the open air at least half an hour a day. Without enough oxygen, your body is bound to feel sluggish.

MRS. D. E. CONAWAY

Board Member Helps Prepare For Inauguration Of President

As a member of the Edinboro College Board of Directors, Mrs. D. E. Conaway will be participating in the Inauguration Day program, at which Dr. Chester T. McNeerney is to become the thirteenth president of Edinboro State College, on April 22.

Plans for the event include an inaugural concert on Friday evening, April 21, at 8:15 in Memorial Auditorium at the college. It is expected to set the tone for the following day's events.

Saturday morning at ten o'clock there is to be an Educational Symposium opening the formal Inauguration Program, with the speaker, Dr. Norman P. Auburn, president of the University of Akron. His topic will be "International Education Today".

Dr. Luther V. Hendricks, chairman of the Social Studies department at Edinboro will be moderator of a panel group which will conduct the discussion period, with Dr. Eldon Shupe Jr., chairman of the Humanities department Mr. Alfred Pannbacker, assistant professor in the Geography department, and three students, Marion Carter, Raymond McMahon and John Moore, members of the panel. Dr. Leo J. Roland, Acting Dean of Instruction will preside.

Immediately following will be a luncheon for dignitaries and special guests in Ross Dining Hall. Dr. Philip M. Ball, president emeritus of the University of Omaha, will be the guest speaker.

The Investiture service will begin at 2:30, the line of march will include colorful academic vestments representing the different colleges, universities, learned societies and associations. The ceremonial program is to take place at 3 o'clock in Memorial Auditorium.

Heloise Hints

DEAR HELOISE:

While cleaning my dish cupboard I noticed that the shelf paper had become torn by the metal legs on my casserole cradle.

I bought four push-on type pencil erasers and slipped one on each leg of the casserole.

Now the legs of the cradle do not tear my shelf paper. An added bonus is that the cradle does not slip and slide on my counter nor mar my table top.

A drop of glue in each eraser keeps them in place. Anna Fletcher

DEAR HELOISE:

I had trouble keeping flowers arranged in my large wide-mouthed flower vases.

So I made a circle of styrofoam to exactly fit into the top of each vase and cut holes in this for the stems to go through.

I find that the styrofoam in the neck of the vase holds large flowers in place much better than any frog in the bottom.

Bertha Dirkee

Sure does, honey pie. Besides, I find it's more sanitary because your frog isn't under the water.

Heloise

DEAR HELOISE

For years I have always removed the pane of glass from my aluminum storm door to clean it because of the fancy metal guard on the outside.

One day my fourteen-year-old son was helping me with the cleaning. I told him to clean the storm door, holding my breath for fear that he might break it.

Instead of taking out the glass, he just removed the guard by taking out four screws! This left the glass safely fastened in the door and it was much easier to clean.

ATTENDS WATER SYSTEM SCHOOL

Walter T. Buchanan of the Davies & Sons Company, 1503 Conewango Ave. Ext., has just completed a two-day water supply training school course conducted at the F. E. Myers & Bros. Co. in Ashland, Ohio. He received comprehensive training in salesmanship, pumping fundamentals and pumps. Mr. Buchanan is shown at the right, receiving his diploma from R. H. Bourbonnais, marketing manager, water systems.

Russell Club Scouts Pushing March Project

By MRS. PAUL LINDELL
Seven Cub Scouts of Den 1 met at the Andersen home and answered roll call with names of tools they learned the previous week. A song fest was held and the boys traced patterns for their "Handyman" project. A game of darts was played with Jeff Andersen high scorer. New Denner for two months is Paul Bryan and assistant Denner is David Fry and they were given the grand howl. Meeting closed with the living circle and the law of the pack.

Den 2 met at the English home and opening was led by Mike English. Six boys attended and Mrs. Dale English was leader in the absence of Mrs. Harley Smith, the Den Mother. Work was begun on the craft project. Each boy varnished his project after which a nail pounding relay was held, directed by Den Chief David Hummel. Gordon Golden, Robert Zobriest and Randy English team won over Steve Bauer, Danny Burd and Jerry Pangborn team. For the closing Jerry Pangborn and Robert Zobriest led in the flag ceremony, with the living circle and prayer by Robert Zobriest.

Den 3 met at the Darrell Johnson home with Denner Bren Lindell leading in the opening. A new honor system was explained and when the boys earned 15 points, their names will be placed on the "Honor Scroll". A tool demonstration was given and the boys were asked to bring hammers to the next meeting to start their projects for the pack meet. A nail driving relay was held and the meeting closed with a grand howl for the boys who had received awards at the previous pack meeting.

$1,000 in Loot From Falconer Super Market

FALCONER, N.Y.—Burglars escaped Monday morning with $1,000 from the Gold Star Supermarket in Levant, N.Y., one mile east of here.

A small portable safe was taken from the office and wheeled to the rear of the store where the door was pried open with tools taken from another part of the store and the money removed.

The burglary occurred sometime between 11 p.m. Sunday and 3 a.m. Monday.

State Police Investigator Philip Trapani said no visible means of entry were visible, leading him to believe the culprits were hiding inside the store when it closed Sunday evening.

The thieves loaded two suitcases with such items as cameras, a tape recorder, shoes and sportcoats but abandoned the loot in the rear of the store when it was theorized, they encountered trouble in making their exit.

Trapani and Trooper Frank Engblom also said a cash register was open and $35 taken. Police are continuing the investigation.

Hurt in Crash

SALAMANCA, N.Y.—Mrs. Grace E. Denoski, 62, of Harborcreek, Pa., suffered a broken leg when her automobile skidded out of control on Route 17, four miles west of here, Monday afternoon. The car skidded into the path of a van-truck.

One Crash Victim Is Still Critical

KANE—One local motor accident victim, Miss Connie Royer, 23, of Fraley St., remains in critical condition at Kane Community Hospital. She suffered serious injuries when the car in which she was riding, driven by Frank Reynolds, 25, of Kane Rd., skidded and struck a utility pole Saturday morning. Carl Henzel, 20, of Olean and William Masten, 19, of Syracuse, N.Y., hurt in an accident on Route 219 north of Kane, were reported in fairly good condition.

WARREN AUTO SHOW FEATURE

The Mako Shark II, Chevrolet's experimental Corvette, will be displayed at Dan's Chevrolet Exhibit, during the Warren Auto Show, March 9 and 10, at the Warren Roll-Arena. The two-passenger fastback coupe, incorporating the latest in automobile aerodynamics, continues the "look ahead" design tradition of Corvette show cars. Among its many features are retractable stabilizing flaps, a "flip-top" roof for easy passenger access, "hideaway" design of lights, rear bumper, windshield wipers and door latches, and smoothly molded aircraft-type cockpit.

Firmer Market Prices Finish Up

(c) N.Y. Times News Service
NEW YORK — Stock prices firmed yesterday afternoon and finished for the day slightly higher on balance.

Several glamour stocks and special - situation issues provided some fireworks in an otherwise listless session. The blue-chip sector marked time with leading issues showing only small changes.

Price advances on the New York Stock Exchange topped declines by 637 to 536 at the close.

Electronics and computer stocks furnished most of the excitement. Fairchild Camera shot up 10 1/4, to 172; American Research and Development soared 1 1/2, to 90; Scientific Data Systems spurted 9 1/2, to 109 1/2; Burroughs added 5 1/2, to 115 1/2, and E. G. & G. climbed 5 1/4, to 72 1/4.

Despite gains in this order, leading market indicators moved in narrow ranges and closed with mixed results. The Dow-Jones Industrial Average lost a small gain in the final half-hour, closing at 841.76, down 0.44 points.

The New York Times combined average of 50 industrial and railroad stocks rose 0.97 points, to 488.84. The New York Stock Exchange composite index edged up 0.06 points, to 48.36, and Standard & Poor's 500-stock index rose 0.06 points, closing at 88.16.

Over-all volume on the big board eased to 9.81 million shares from 10.4 million on Monday.

Glamour stocks again were well represented in the 61 stocks that posted 1966-67 highs. There were no new lows.

Eleven of the 15 most-active stocks posted gains. Metro-Goldwyn - Mayer was the biggest gainer, closing at a new high of 41 1/8, up 3 1/2. The motion picture company is expected to announce today the results of a recent battle with dissident elements headed by Philip J. Levin. The management of the company is believed to have won the fight.

FAMOUS LAST WORDS

"Anybody can sell a house"
If you don't understand completely such things as current market values, FHA and GI loan procedures, closing costs, tax adjustments, agreements of sale, and how and where to help obtain financing for your buyer, you may find selling your home more trouble than you think. Remember too, you may spend hours or even days working on a sale only to find out your buyer does not qualify for a loan.

GARRISON WOLFE CO.
has two full time brokers ready and able to do all this for you. Call us today for Free consultation on the sale of your home.

Effortless Five-Hour Stew

TIME SAVING DINNER

Effortless five hour stew bakes in the oven while the cook is away enjoying the time or getting needed chores done. Serve with hot rolls, a layered gelatin salad, and gingerbread with whipped cream for dessert.

There's absolutely no pot watching to do with this fix and forget stew—all that is needed in the cooking is for five hours of time to elapse.

Lean stew meat can be purchased already cut to size at the grocery store. The vegetables take only minutes to clean and cut. Cubed bread, canned tomato sauce with cheese, water and seasonings are added with the meat and vegetables to the pot. The whole thing is covered and placed in the oven to be forgotten for five hours, if you so wish.

The five hours provides for a borrowing and exchange of flavors among the ingredients that results in rich, savory taste. Important here is convenient canned tomato sauce with cheese. It has a bouquet of Italian spices plus a generous amount of aged Romano cheese. These prized Italian seasonings score again in this easy-going stew.

The rest of the menu is done ahead—perhaps the night before: a jelled beauty with creamy avocado and coleslaw layers, and for dessert—gingerbread (warmed briefly in the oven in a brown paper bag) with whipped cream.

EFFORTLESS FIVE-HOUR STEW

2 lb. lean stewing beef, cut in bite size pieces
12 small white boiling onions
1 cup chopped celery
2 potatoes, cut in eighths
6 carrots, cut in 1-inch pieces
1 slice white bread, cubed
2 (8-oz.) cans tomato sauce with cheese
1 cup water
1 1/2 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. pepper

Combine all ingredients in casserole; cover and bake at 250 degrees for 5 hours. Makes 6 servings.

King Crab Reigns

Be prepared like this wise owl and keep a supply of Alaska King Crab on hand for special company cocktails. You can always depend on Alaska King Crab cocktail to delight your guests, especially when the cocktail sauce has been tried and proven a favorite.

Here, Dee's Alaska King Crab Cocktail uses either canned or frozen crab. The crab is well drained and sliced with a sharp knife into bite size morsels. Placed in cocktail cups lined with ruffled greens, the crab is topped with a smooth sauce prepared from sour cream, lemon juice and chili sauce with the added tang of horseradish and Tabasco. Lime wedges add brightness and flavor.

Serve Western style as an appetizer in the living room before guests are seated for dinner.

ALASKA KING CRAB SOUFFLE

Serves 4 to 6.

Melt over low heat:
1/4 cup butter or margarine

Blend in:
1/4 cup flour

Pour in all at once:
1 cup cold milk

Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until thickened. Remove from heat. Beat in, one at a time:
4 egg yolks

Add:
1 cup Alaska King Crab meat (frozen or canned) cut into small pieces or chunks.

Season with:
Onion juice
Dash pepper
Chopped parsley

Cool mixture.

Beat until stiff but not dry:
4 egg whites to which have been added 1/2 tsp. salt

Fold crab mixture carefully into egg whites.

Pour into a preheated 1 1/2 quart casserole (greased on bottom only).

With a teaspoon, circle mixture about 1 inch deep approximately 1 inch from sides.

Bake:
325 degree oven 50 to 60 minutes until puffy and delicately brown, and a knife inserted halfway between center and outside comes out clean.

If souffle must stand, leave in oven with lowest heat possible.

BARBEQUED ALASKA KING CRAB

Use frozen or canned King Crab meat. Cut legs in half or in chunks. Heat in the following hot barbeque sauce. Serve in individual bowls with small amount of sauce, accompanied by hot garlic French bread.

HOT BARBEQUE SAUCE

Yield: 2 gallons. May be stored in refrigerator.

Saute in heavy pot:
1 1/2 cups minced onions
2 Tbsp. minced garlic

In:
1 cup salad oil

Add:
3/4 cup bread flour, stir well until blended.

Add:
3 quarts hot brown stock, stir until smooth.

Dissolve:
1/2 cup sugar
1 Tbsp. dry mustard
2 tsp. black pepper

In:
1 cup cider vinegar. Add to brown sauce.

Add:
2 quarts tomato sauce or puree
Juice of three lemons
1 cup Worcestershire Sauce
1 Tbsp. barbeque spice or chili

Simmer 30 minutes.

Add:
Salt to taste, and adjust seasonings.

ALASKA KING CRAB CASSEROLE WITH CHEESE SAUCE

Serves 12 generously.

Marinade:
2 1/2 pounds King Crab meat (chunks and pieces), frozen or canned,

In:
1/2 cup Dill Sauce
3/4 cup Sherry Wine

Cook:
2 6-ounce packages MJB white and wild rice mix according to package directions until half done—approximately 6 minutes. Do not drain, and do not use spices and herbs enclosed with mixture.

Combine:
1 finely chopped green pepper
1 bunch green onions, including tops, sliced
1 bunch finely chopped fresh parsley
1/4 cup chopped capers
1 16-oz. can mushrooms, stems and pieces
1 cup chopped celery
1 cup toasted slivered almonds
2 tsp. Johnny's Seafood Seasoning
Freshly ground coarse pepper to taste

Combine with crab and rice mixtures. Toss lightly.

Add:
3 10-oz. cans undiluted mushroom soup. Mix carefully. Spoon into buttered casserole or buttered individual shells. Top with bread crumbs.

Bake:
350 degrees for 40 minutes. This is delicious just as it comes from the oven, or it may be topped with the following cheese sauce. Serve the cheese sauce in warmer.

Melt in double boiler:
1 12-oz. jar Kraft Cheez Whiz
3 dashes tabasco sauce
1/8 tsp. cayenne pepper

Serve very hot.

WESTERN STYLE

Dee's crab cocktail with its zippy sauce lends itself superbly to serving Western style as an appetizer in the living room before guests are seated for dinner.

 French Bread
 Cheesecake
 Beverage

SAUCE DANTON
 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
 1 small onion minced
 2 tablespoons flour
 1 1/4 cups milk
 2 tablespoons tomato paste (from a 6-ounce can)
 2 tablespoons dry sherry
 1/4 teaspoon salt and 1/2 teaspoon white pepper.

In a 1-quart saucepan on a low heat, melt the butter, add the onion and cook until golden. Stir in flour, then milk, cook and stir constantly over moderately low heat until thickened. Stir in remaining ingredients to blend and heat. Serve with broiled ham slice, makes enough sauce for 4 portions.

Family Dinner

 Cheese and Crackers
 Beverage

SPICED PEACHES
 1 can (1 pound, 13 ounces) cling peach halves
 1/4 cup cider vinegar
 6 whole cloves
 6 whole allspice
 2-inch piece stick cinnamon
 1/2 teaspoon salt

Turn peaches into a strainer, set over a 1-quart saucepan, reserve peaches. To peach syrup add vinegar, spices and salt. Bring to a boil, let bubble gently for about 10 minutes. Add peaches and cook. Turn into a wide mouth jar (almost a quart size); cover and refrigerate for 24 hours before serving.

Afternoon Tea

Deliciously flavored cookie that is not overly sweet.

Jelly Tarts
 Viennese Cookies
 Tea with Lemon, Milk or Cream

VIENNESE COOKIES
 1 cup butter
 1/2 cup sifted confectioners sugar
 1 egg yolk (from a large egg)
 1/4 teaspoon salt
 1 teaspoon vanilla
 2 1/2 cups sifted regular flour
 1 1/4 cups grated (use hand-operated rotary grater) toasted filberts

Cream butter, sugar, egg yolk, salt and vanilla. Gradually blend in flour, then filberts. Cover tightly and chill until firm. On a pastry cloth with stockinet-covered rolling pin, roll out one-quarter of dough at a time (keep rest refrigerated) 1/4-inch thick. Cut out with round 2 1/2-inch cutter. Place 1 inch apart on greased cookie sheets. Bake at 350-degrees about 10 minutes. Roll in extra confectioners sugar; cool. Makes about 4 dozen. (After toasting filberts in a 400-degree oven, rub off as many of the brown skins as possible.)

Serve this coffee cake with soft-cooked eggs and citrus sections. And if you're planning a breakfast that just can't be ordinary, try bacon curls. Just fry the bacon lightly, roll, secure with a tooth-pick and bake at 425 degrees until crisp. You'll be happy you took the time, for your Glazed Pear Coffee Cake does deserve the prettiest or table companions.

made with cream cheese and mayonnaise. Rather, it's rich in texture and savory with the flavor of bottled tomato juice and onion. For contrast, there are crisp bits of chopped celery and pickle.

Make it ahead of time in a decorative mold or in small individual molds for each salad. And always be sure it's served with the meat course.

You'll find that women like this tomato mold, but there's something about it that appeals particularly to men. Tell the man of the family that you made it especially for him and he'll enjoy it all the more.

THE KING

TOMATO CREAM MOLD
 3 envelopes (3 tablespoons) unflavored gelatin
 3 cups tomato juice
 2 tablespoons lemon juice
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1 package (3 ounce) cream cheese, room temperature
 1 cup salad dressing or mayonnaise
 3/4 cup finely chopped celery
 One third cup finely chopped sweet or dill pickle
 1/4 to one third cup finely chopped onion.

Soften gelatin in 1 cup tomato juice, place over low heat, stir until gelatin melts. Stir in remaining 2 cups tomato juice, lemon juice, and salt. Chill until mixture begins to set. Beat cream cheese until smooth. Whip in salad dressing or mayonnaise until smooth. Add tomato mixture, blend well. Add celery, pickle, and onion. Pour into an oiled 5-cup mold. Chill until firm. Unmold on crisp salad greens. Garnish with additional salad dressing or mayonnaise and sweet or dill pickle fans. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

GLAZED PEAR COFFEE CAKE

Makes 8 servings
 One 10 1/2-oz. pkg. easy coffee cake mix
 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
 1 egg, unbeaten
 1/2 cup milk
 1/4 cup coarsely-chopped canned pears, drained
 Thin Confectioners' sugar
 Frosting

Heat oven to moderate (375 degrees F.). Put nutmeg, egg and milk into large bag of mix. Squeeze upper part of bag to force air out. Close top of bag by holding tightly between thumb and index finger. With bag resting on table, mix by working bag vigorously with fingers. Mix about 40 seconds or until egg is completely blended.

Squeeze bag to empty batter into special aluminum foil pan contained in package. (Do not grease pan.) Spoon pears over top of batter. Sprinkle topping contained in smaller bag evenly over pears. Bake in preheated oven (375 degrees F.) about 25 minutes.

Drizzle with frosting. Open corner folds of pan for easy cutting and serving. Serve warm.

Saturday Dinner

Good fruit cup with which to start the meal because the combination is so refreshing.

 Beverage

SEAFOOD PEAS
 2 cans (each 10 ounces) frozen oyster stew soup, thawed
 4 tablespoons flour (regular or instant blending) blended with 1/4 cup cold water
 2 cans (each 1 pound, 1 ounce) very small green peas, drained
 2 cans (each 7 1/2 ounces) king crab with tendons removed, drained and sliced into fairly big pieces.

Remove oysters from soup and cut in half; reserve. To the undiluted soup add the flour mixture; over moderately low heat cook and stir constantly until thickened. Add reserved oysters, peas and crab; reheat but do not boil. Makes 12 generous servings.

WSCS to Elect New Officers At Lottsville

By MRS. RAY WELLS
Earl Woodburn spent two days in Williamsport, where he took aptitude tests for entrance in Williamsport Community College.

Mrs. E. C. Brown, who had been a patient in Corry Memorial Hospital for three weeks, returned home on Friday. Her daughter, Mrs. Rulin Kerr of Titusville, is spending several days with her mother and her sister, Miss Marjorie Brown.

Mrs. Florence Woodburn, Barbara and Patricia visited Mrs. Hazel Damon of Corry, who was recently discharged from Corry Memorial Hospital in Surgay.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Wells, also Mrs. Sarah Abbott of Sugar Grove, were Sunday dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Abbott and family of Jamestown.

Mrs. David Curtis and daughter, Betty Jo of Columbus were Sunday evening callers of Edmund Woodburn and Miss Agnes Woodburn.

The W.S.C.S. of the Lottsville Methodist Church held their regular meeting at the church on Thursday evening with fifteen members attending. The President, Mrs. Walter Chase, opened the meeting with prayer. The members voted to buy a coffee percolator for the church kitchen. The nominating committee will report a slate of officers for the coming year at the April meeting. Mrs. Rush Chapman Jr. gave an Easter meditation and poem for devotions. Mrs. Walter Chase presented the lesson, the topic, "Food for the Journey." Mrs. Chapman closed the meeting with a prayer.

Refreshments were served with Mrs. Helen Johnson, Mrs. Harold Chapman and Mrs. Stanley Emlen in charge.

List Exemption Requirements For Dependents

Five requirements must be met to claim an exemption for dependents other than the taxpayer's children on 1966 Federal income tax returns, H. Alan Long, District Director of Internal Revenue for Western Pennsylvania, explained today.

The dependent must (1) have received less than $600 gross income; (2) have received more than half of his support from the taxpayer; (3) not have filed a joint return with wife or husband; (4) be a citizen or resident of the United States, or a resident of Canada, Mexico, the Republic of Panama, or the Canal Zone; and (5) either have been a member of the taxpayer's household for the entire taxable year, or be closely related to the taxpayer.

Mr. Long further explained that the taxpayer may not claim the additional exemptions for age and blindness of a dependent. Only one exemption is allowed, for example, for a widowed mother over 65.

Document No. 5013, which furnishes more detailed information on this subject, is available upon request from the Internal Revenue Service.

U.S. Students Fare Poorly In Math Tests

CHICAGO (AP) — American students fared poorly in an international study of how well students in 12 countries learn mathematics, a group of educators reported yesterday.

The study, conducted by the International Project for the Evaluation of Educational Achievement, showed that the United States is among the least effective of 12 countries tested in developing mathematics talent.

Educators cited the highly comprehensive education system in the United States and lack of opportunity to learn some phases of mathematics as reasons for the poor showing of American students.

Mrs. Gail Decker and Mrs. Harold Bloomgren volunteered for cleaning the sanctuary the week of March 11. Mrs. Kenneth Lindell for March 18, and Mrs. D. Ludwig for March 25. Meeting closed with Mrs. Elmer Swanson giving devotions and reading "Just Friends".

Raising Funds for Families Hit by Fires

By DONNA DURLIN
Fire has destroyed two homes in Wrightsville this winter, the David Jewell and Dick Little homes. Funds are now being started. Anyone wishing to help these families may do so by sending or bringing any donations, clothing or etc. to Donna Durlin who is in charge.

Mrs. Loretta Scranton returned home Friday after spending several months in Las Vegas, Nevada, visiting her son-in-law and daughter Mr. and Mrs. Orrie Beebe and granddaughters Janice and Mrs. Nancy Morony.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Durlin of Pittsfield were Friday evening supper guests of his brother Mr. and Mrs. James Durlin and Donna; others attending were Mrs. Richard Hunt and children Rita, Marcia and Ricky. Will Durlin and Mrs. Hunt's birthdays were observed.

Weekend visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Faust were Vern Hall, Karen Faust and Martha Kurn of Jamestown. Sunday callers were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Faust and Karen of Jamestown. Mr. and Mrs. Faust were Sunday guests of Alice, Alma and Marian Faust of Meadville.

Singspiration program held Saturday evening was a real success. Taking part in the program were Calvin Gage and cousin and pianist, Rev. Rex Meelen, Genevieve Faust, Mel Agens and congregation of Wrightsville Community Church.

Titusville Tracks Will Be Removed

TITUSVILLE — The Titusville Redevelopment Authority met Monday night in City Hall for its monthly session. During the meeting the members were informed that they can expect the railroad tracks in the Better Days development area to be removed within the next three or four months.

BARNES AREA HAPPENINGS

Richard Lyle Accepted to West Point

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Onifur have sold their home in Barnes and purchased the home of the late William Hoffman in Sheffield.

Mrs. J. B. Lyle received word that her grandson, Richard Lyle of Newark, Ohio, had been selected to attend the military academy at West Point. He is the son of Phyllis Lyle, a former resident of Barnes.

Mrs. Hilmar Wenstran of Ludlow is a guest at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Raymond Ralston, and family.

The adult Bible class of Methodist church met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Harry Shaw. Miss Nelle Titus read from the scripture on St. Paul. It was decided to make a donation to the crippled children's fund.

WCS of the Methodist church will meet March 16th with Harriet Titus. She will give the program.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Henry of Greensburg were guests for several days at the home of their daughter Mrs. Eugene Leseman and family.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Rae and son Lawrence of Bradford were Sunday visitors at the home of Mrs. Bertha Holden.

Steven Blair is home from Lincoln, Neb., and with other members of his family will go to Cedar Key, Florida, to the wedding of his twin sister, Judy on March 11th. Mrs. E. F. Blair left by car last week for Cedar Key.

ENJOY 'HOBO' PARTY

Frida evening the MIF group at Russell, of which Mr. and Mrs. Phillips are leaders, held a "Hobo" party in the church basement. Twenty boys and girls present. Games were played. Jerry Himes and Craig Branstrom were awarded the best costumes. For refreshments, ice cream and cake were served by Mr. and Mrs. Phillips.

HAMILTON TWP. GROUP MEETS

Founders' Day Program at Ludlow

The Hamilton Township PTA March meeting was held in the Ludlow School Tuesday evening. A special program in observance of Founders Day was given by Robert Carson, a faculty member of Kane Area Senior High School, whose talk centered on the topic "The Understanding Home" and was most interesting.

Mrs. William Campbell, president conducted the meeting. All past presidents were honored and presented with a gift. A discussion was heard on placing road signs in front of the school. Hostesses were the second grade mothers.

Cakes were baked by Mrs. Paul Minugh and Mrs. Virginia Zeeder. Mrs. Minugh decorated her cake special for Founders Day. These were then used for a cake walk and were won by John Straneva, Jr., and Alfred Johnson.

Mrs. Evelyn Anderson was hostess at the meeting of the Dorcas Unit meeting, held Thursday afternoon in the social room of the church. Mrs. John G. Johnson is chairman of the group and its project. Coffee and dessert were served by Mrs. Anderson.

Mrs. J. B. Lyle and Mrs. Paul Minugh assisted at the cake walk. Mrs. Lyle is a former resident of Barnes. Mrs. Minugh is a former resident of Barnes. Mrs. Lyle is a former resident of Barnes. Mrs. Minugh is a former resident of Barnes.
